Where:

When:

As in past years, this November a number of Bluffton officers will not be shaving for the entire month to raise money for charity.

"I fully support No Shave November because it raises money for a great cause, and it raises morale," said Bluffton Police Chief Joey Reynolds.

Since the beginning of the month, the department has raised $500.00 from officers who donated funds. This year's money will go to St. Jude Children's Hospital. So far, twenty (20) officers have signed up to take part in No Shave November.
